Australian Workplace Giving Awards

APPLY NOW!

Most Innovative Charity / Employer Partnership

Jointly awarded to a charity and employer that have run a successful and creative initiative together as part of a workplace giving program. Judges are interested in how the partnership was planned, what made it innovative, and evidence of great results achieved for both parties. This award is supported by the Australian Government.

Details and data requested:

- Year program commenced
- How the partnership was planned and operates
- Examples of promotional collateral
- Results / impact (in specific and tangible terms)
- All data should relate to the 12-month period prior to the date of the Award entry
- Prior year Finalists and Winners, wishing to enter again this year, will need to demonstrate participation increase over the past year

Eligibility

Entries are to be completed by the charity involved in the partnership. Charities may nominate more than one employer partnership, with each nomination to be submitted as a separate entry. Any employer cause-related marketing or community fundraising activity must be related to the employer's workplace giving program, with the workplace giving program being the primary component of the activity.

Judging

The independent judging panel has a multi-sector wealth of workplace giving experience.
